cobi™

With teams meeting more often, and for longer periods of time, people often find themselves squirming and becoming fatigued, which makes it difficult to stay engaged. That's why we created a whole new category of seating products designed specifically for the needs of collaboration. The cobi chair encourages movement and supports a variety of postures. With only one adjustment (seat height), and a mechanism that's weight activated, anyone can get comfortable quickly.

The cobi chair is available as a Cradle to Cradle™ Gold certified product and also has Indoor Advantage™ certification from Scientific Certification Systems as being a low emitting product.
