Steelcase surface materials are a smart choice for both business environments and the global environment. We continue to create and provide products that advance environmental and human health, social responsibility and economic prosperity. As part of this effort, we are introducing Basalt (7230) paint. Basalt paint is the result of our ongoing efforts to reduce waste, while offering our customers surface material choices that minimize our impact on the environment.

Basalt paint is formulated by collecting "over-spray" material (materials that are not utilized during the coating process) from Steelcase plants and combining it with resin, texturing agents and pigments. The material is then reprocessed into the finished paint product. The end result contains 85% over-spray/scrap material. In other words, we are reusing our waste to produce Basalt paint.

Here are a few facts...

The amount of virgin material used to paint 1 file cabinet in standard black paint is equivalent to the amount of virgin material used to paint 4 cabinets in Basalt paint.

Standard paint

Basalt paint

For every 100 5-high file cabinets painted with Basalt paint, you are saving 93.75 lbs. of powder. That means that 93.75 lbs. of powder never gets produced, used, transported or disposed of.

Saving

93.75 lbs. of new powder
