

It's critical for organizations to understand how mobile their employees are so they can create spaces that are right for their needs.

MOBILITY

It's critical for organizations to understand how mobile their employees are so they can create spaces that are right for their needs — avoiding wasted space for highly mobile employees or not allowing the right blend of space for office-based workers. This survey discovers where people work, mobile technology needed, travel needs, options to work at home, and more.

Steelcase

For further information, please contact your Steelcase Representative.