UPV STORAGE

THE DYNAMIC WORKPLACE

As we continue to learn how incorporating movement into our day improves our overall wellbeing, workforces are increasingly becoming more mobile in the way they work.

To help teams think creatively and collaborate more effectively, our work environments are moving away from traditional office settings and becoming more resilient – designed to adapt and evolve.

Solutions that approach workplaces as an ecosystem strike a balance between space optimization and sensitivity to the needs of employees with areas that cater to different working rhythms, styles and requirements.

THE CHALLENGE

To work together in shared spaces, employees require access to intelligent storage solutions. Organizations are looking for both short and long-term options to accommodate personal belongings, technology, reference materials and resources.

TOUCHDOWN SPACES

UPV Lockers with the option of integrated writable and pinnable surfaces support communication in open spaces as well as providing personal storage.

By introducing relaxed seating options nearby, these storage units become meaningful points of connection.

TRANSITIONAL SPACES

Transitional spaces are increasingly important for mobile workers, providing temporary space to check in and connect at the office, and include thoughtful and accessible short-term storage options.

LEADERSHIP SPACES

With space at a premium, private offices are being transformed into open and welcoming shared leadership spaces, where leaders can become more accessible to their teams, and better partners to one another.

These environments offer tidy, temporary storage solutions to suit individual preferences or reflect team culture.

RESIDENT SPACES

Even in collaborative work environments, personal space is important.

Fixed workstations with personal storage let employees settle in and create their own sense of place and order. Cushioned pedestals fit under desks to optimize space, and double as comfortable and convenient seats for impromptu catch-ups with colleagues.

SPACES FOR REJUVENATION

Enclosed individual settings offer a retreat from distractions or interruptions – comfortable spaces to reflect, think and unwind in.

Clean, open storage solutions display curated objects and reading material selected to calm and rejuvenate. Available in a range of finishes, they can be customized to suit a variety of design aesthetics.
