“Every neighborhood needs an area where people can come together and be creative. Available in seated or standing heights and in open spaces with lounge furniture, Share It Collaborative Elements support collaboration within the open space by offering choice and control through a variety of postures.

Markerboard surfaces provide space for groups to capture notes and visualize information in generative collaborative sessions.

Media:scape allows digital content sharing and gives everyone an equal seat at the table.

An acoustic shroud limits distraction to others and keeps information in the meeting private.”
