

Steelcase Health at TEDMED 2013: April 16-19

TEDMED 2013 is only a little more than 2 weeks away, and the team at Steelcase Health is growing increasingly excited as we gear up for this event.

This year, the TEDMED theme is “Creating unexpected connections to drive innovation.” As part of this theme, they asked us the question, “what drives innovation?” We responded with “TENSIONS.”

At Steelcase Health, we understand that the challenges facing healthcare are multifaceted and persistent. Within each one, we often find competing, push-pull relationships. We see these tensions as opportunity for insights. The kind that lead to design innovation.

We invite you to personally – or even virtually – connect with Steelcase Health as we discuss the relationship between tensions and innovation, as well as how technology, individuals, and space play a significant role in the future of healthcare.
