

Webinar: Leading with Purpose

Watch On Demand

As we look forward, it's important to understand what our collective vision and purpose is. We need to continue to lead by connecting people with purpose for lasting change. We all have a part to play, but what does purpose mean for companies, for communities and for us as individuals?

BlackRock is a leading global investment management corporation and has been leading the way in envisioning a different way to think about the role of business in society. A vision of a world in which well-being and financial profit are joined in ensuring prosperity for all stakeholders.

We invite you to join our conversation with Dr. Frank Cooper III, Global Chief Marketing Officer of BlackRock and member of the Global Executive and Global Operating Committees, and Kim Dabbs, Global Director of Social Innovation at Steelcase.

We're here to help you create a better work experience that can start now and adapt to whatever the future may hold.
