Webinar: New Era of Hybrid Work

Watch On Demand

Hybrid work is different. New behaviors are emerging. There are new ways to collaborate, communicate and connect. And, new distractions to avoid. The relationship between people and their workplace has changed. The places people work need to change as well — focusing on what really matters most now.

Our webinar featured an expert panel in human resources and organizational strategy to discuss what people and organizations really need in a new era of hybrid work and share ideas for how to meet those needs. What matters most? And is your workplace ready?
