Due to the sudden nature of the pandemic, remote work quickly became the reality for millions of workers everywhere, many of whom lacked an ideal home setup. In a recent Steelcase study, only 30% of participants reported they would describe their home workspace as comfortable. But as people continue to work from home longer than anyone anticipated, it's looking like the home will continue to be a key place where work happens, at least some of the time and the need for a more comfortable and productive home environment has never been more important.

Whether it's for yourself or a loved one, give a practical gift this year that any remote worker will appreciate, and create a home office that has the wellbeing of people in mind and helps them do their best work.

For The Small Footprint

Steelcase Series 1

Packed into a compact size, Steelcase Series 1 is a high performing and ergonomic powerhouse. Easy on the eyes and even easier on the back, Steelcase Series 1 blends exceptional comfort with value. The LiveBack™ flexor system in the backrest conforms to your body and moves with you to support the spine as you change postures. The arm height adjusts within a 5-inch range to help relieve upper back and shoulder fatigue and provide serious comfort all day long.

For The Active Performer

Migration SE Sit to Stand Desk

When you've been working from home for a while, it's easy to fall into the habit of sitting in one place all day. Switch up your routine with a sit-to-stand desk like Migration SE. As you change posture throughout the day, Migration SE is quick to keep up and provide ergonomic support at every height. Migration SE is a good fit for a wide range of remote workers and features two height ranges, starting at 22.6 and adjusting up to 48.7".

For The Modern Designer
