

Planning Idea

ID: AS4VA2KA

An Office for Research and Connecting The kit of parts is selected to better support research, interactions with collaborators and technology integration for sharing work and connecting with a research team. It has zones for creating, meeting, amplifying digital content and storing. The integrated digital technology supports sharing and evaluating content as well as connecting with remote research collaborators. The large individual workspace provides a place for shallow and deep focus tasks. Ample storage supports a range of research collections.
