A high-performance team working in an iterative fashion – ideating and making thinking visible in an immersive environment. The team’s inspiration and efficiency is fueled by analog tools and adaptive space that supports the iterative design processes. This space is dedicated to the team and owned through the duration of the project. It is highly flexible, movable, and reconfigures quickly and easily on-demand as the team self-organizes. Here they can immerse themselves in their analog content and share for the duration of the project. The space
